Estate Matters.

The bond of Sarah F. Henderson, guardian of the estate of Levi Henderson, an insane person, has been approved by County Judge Terrell. It is in the sum of $600 with Mr. Goodrich as surety.

James Duncan, as guardian of August Selander, an insane, was required to give a bond in the sum of $400 and it has been filed and approved. Geo. V. Boise, Scott Wilcox and Charles Ogle have been appointed to appraise the property of the estate.

In the matter of the estate of Elton Coldren, deceased, Jennie Coldren, the administratrix, having filed her bond amounting to $1,600 with O. L. Coldren and G. D. Killen sureties, the court has approved it and named Nixon Blair, P. L. Sichel and N. T. Chapman to make the appraisal of the property.

IN DARKNESS.—Eugene was in darkness last night so far as street lights were concerned. The contract between the city and the electric light company expired on the tenth of this month, and since that time the council and company have failed to agree on terms for a new contract.

The city claims that retrenchment must be effected and is willing to take a less number of lights at nearly the old price per light, but to this the company demurs. It is estimated there will be a deficit in city revenues this year of at least $1500. Two saloons failed to take out license, a loss of $800, and it is thought the loss from decreased valuations in assessments will not amount to much less than $1000. Last year it was $1100.—Guard.

AN ORDER.—An order from Judge Hewitt was today served upon Receiver Anson and the officers of the Consolidated Railway company for the examination of the company's books by M. L. Chamberlain and his attorneys. The Levi Balmer wheel which was raffled off at the "Bureau" last week, was carried off by R. A. Kirk, the cigar man.

JOURNAL "X" RAYS.

Directed Upon Persons and Things by the Good Natured Man.

Of course the forthcoming issue of bonds will make votes for the gold candidates.

It must be admitted that the candidates resemble each other more closely than the platforms.

If you have ever had a grievance against the Republican machine now is the time to get a sop.

The New York banks are prepared to aid the government! They knock poor old Uncle Sam cold with the single standard club, and then graciously volunteer to assist him.

Readers of the "sound money" patent insides of the Statesman should remember that such matter is all furnished free by the free trade New York Reform Club. Good Republican literature, eh?

The Cleveland Bond Syndicate which has its hands upon the national treasury will be slow to issue more bonds now for fear of causing a silver land slide from weak-kneed goldites. It will be postponed until after November if possible.

The made to order dispatches from St. Louis to the gold papers are bound to have it that nearly all Pops oppose Bryan. Why this interest? They say Cyclone Davis is against fusion, but all who heard him at Salem know better. Let the patriotic lying go on?

Senator Palmer, Bain, Eckels and other prominent Illinoisans who signed the address to their "fellow Democrats in other states," say the Chicago convention "refused to endorse the honesty and fidelity of the present Democratic National administration." The Republican party did. It seems Palmer, Eckels & Co. want the earth.

Jay Cook who once held the credit of the nation in the palm of his hand says: "We must get back to bimetalism before we reach prosperity. We must have more money to oil the machinery of exchange. If the farmers knew the fearful danger they were in they would rise in their might they would sweep away those devilish politicians and goldbugs."

Mr. Bryan is a great declaimer. He had a good elocution teacher. But he can't carry his own state, where he is known for what he is worth.—Statesman.

The only trouble with this statement by the Democratic editor of the Republican organ is that it is not true. Everybody knows that Bryan was elected to congress twice in a district with several thousand Republican majority to overcome.

There is a great deal of stress laid on the fact that the Sun, World, Evening Post and New York Times are advocating McKinley. Yet anybody who is posted knows that the Sun has not supported a Democratic candidate for fifteen years; that the World has not been a Democratic paper for nearly as long and that the Evening Post never was a Democratic paper. The Times is a Cleveland worshiper and is therefore mum.

Meeting of School Board.
Board of directors for school district No. 24, held a regular meeting last evening for the month of July. The following bills were ordered paid: Salem Water Co., $75; J. H. Miller, $3.50; E. M. Waite Printing Co., $22.25. Application of J. B. Stockman for position of instructor in penmanship in city schools was referred to Superintendent Peebles. After a thorough discussion the matter of renting the Polytechnic building for school purposes the ensuing year, was referred to the executive board of the district with power to take such action as thought best, in conformity with the resolution passed at a recent mass meeting. Director Cherington regarding the furnaces of the different school buildings with the exception of the Park school, would cost $1,420. After a lengthy discussion of the matter, the board was directed to advertise for bids equipping the East Salem school with a hot water or steam heating plant, bids for same to be filed with the school clerk before August 1. Board then adjourned.

In the case of the State vs. R. J. Caples, which came up for trial in Judge Ford's court, the case was disposed of on demurrer. The state was represented by District Attorney S. Hayden and the defense by Morrow & Johnson.

Hon. Samuel L. Layman, who was so severely injured by falling from a cherry tree, about three weeks ago, died very suddenly and unexpectedly Monday evening, at 5 o'clock p. m. Mr. Layman was born February 13, 1833, in Shenandoah valley, Virginia, and when a boy moved with his parents to Illinois. In 1861, he married Matilda Thresher, who survives him. In 1878 he moved with his family to Oregon and settled on a farm near Woodburn, where he lived at the time of his death. He was very prominent in public affairs, having been three times a member of the legislature—in 1886, 1888 and 1892—and was the author of the bill known as the Layman liquor-license bill. In 1890 he was appointed a delegate to the Farmers' national congress at Omaha by Governor Penoyer. Mr. Layman was an ardent supporter of the Republican presidential candidate, and, when the McKinley and Hubart club was organized last week, he sent word to the club requesting that his name should head the membership roll. He was a man of strong religious convictions and was the main supporter of the M. E. church of this place and had been its class leader ever since the church was organized. He was elected an alternate delegate to the general conference which met at Cleveland, O., this spring. He was a good man in every sense of the word, and was beloved and respected by everybody, and his death casts a gloom over the entire city. He leaves a widow and four children, two boys and two girls, all married. Henry is a farmer at Goldendale, Wash.; Bruce, a merchant at Albina; Della, married Charles Leatherman, of Woodburn; a daughter is the wife of Rev. Frank Moore, of Sunnyside. The date of the funeral has not been decided upon.

HE COULD NOT SWIM.—Jos. Kibler, a son of Mr. Eb. Kibler, residing this side of Lebanon, near the Santiam, was in bathing yesterday opposite the Moist farm, when he got caught in a whirlpool, strangled and went down. His companions, who were with him, made every effort to rescue him, but without success. His body was recovered and the funeral services took place today. The deceased was a young man about 29 years of age and has a good many friends who will mourn his death. All the young men are reported to have been poor swimmers. Kibler was afraid of the water and his companions are said to have jokingly dragged him into the river, which is twenty or thirty feet deep only a few feet from the shore. He strangled and they were unable to help him out.—Albany Democrat.

The object of the corporation is to buy and sell, wholesale or retail, teas, coffees, rice, matting, and all other kinds of merchandise imported from Japan, China, or other portions of the world.

Portland Fire
The two-story brick building, occupied by H. Wolf & Brother, at No. 30 Front street, as a wholesale gentleman's furnishing goods house, was completely gutted by fire last evening and the stock is a total loss. The stock was valued at upwards of $60,000 and is partly covered by $53,000 insurance. The building is owned by the Lambert estate and H. L. Hoyt, and the $5000 insurance carried on it will probably cover the loss, as the walls and floors are damaged but little. The cause of the fire is unknown.
